Tribal Business Development, Project Financing & Energy Service Company (ESCO) Opportunities In Indian Country July 27 to 29, 2010

A mission of DOE's Tribal Energy Program (TEP) is to enhance human capacity through education and training. Building knowledge and skills is essential to developing, implementing, and sustaining efficiency and renewable energy development projects on Tribal lands.

This workshop will provide basic information on the following topics:

The Business of Energy
Energy Planning and Projects
Organizing to Carry out Tribal Energy Businesses

What's new from Washington DC that may impact Tribal Energy Businesses?

Tribal Ownership, Joint Ventures, Development Agreements & Lease Basics

Tribal Case Studies – Persistence is a key to Success

Tax-exempt Financing

Tribal Utility Formation

Community-based Energy Projects for Local Jobs and Lower Energy Bills

Energy Services Companies: What are they?
How do they work? Why are BIA-Schools, and IHS-Clinics talking to ESCOs?

What are the challenges and opportunities to doing ESCO projects in Indian Country?
